

About Rajkot

Rajkot stands as Gujarat's fourth-largest city, boasting a vibrant heritage and serving as a crucial regional administrative centre. Over the decades, it has played a pivotal role in shaping the cultural identity and economic development of Gujarat. Today, Rajkot City thrives as a premier industrial powerhouse, recognized for its excellence in machine tools, casting foundries, and innovative kitchenware manufacturing. Beyond heavy engineering, the city is a major centre for the imitation jewellery industry, where traditional craftsmanship seamlessly blends with contemporary design. This artistic expertise extends into its highly active gold and silver markets, reflecting both its deep cultural roots and its enduring commercial legacy.
